Reopening of Prosecution

An appeal conference was held in this application and the conferees agreed with the Applicant's position. However, upon review of the prior art of record and a subsequent search, some of the present claims were found to be unpatentable.

Information Disclosure Statement

With regard to the information disclosure statement filed October 25, 2005, only a cursory review of the rather voluminous documents (mostly court proceedings) was made because the documents are not considered particularly directed to the present claims with the particular issues at hand. In particular, the documents appear to relate to claim 36 of the CIP grandparent application now US Patent 5,922,021. Claim 36 does not claim something obvious in view of what is claimed herein so the Examiner did not think that the documents are particularly relevant.

If Applicant believes that more relevant information is contained in these documents, Applicant is hereby requested to explain the particular relevance of the information as they relate to the claimed invention, giving citations of the relevant pages in the documents.

Election/Restrictions

Claims 60 and 61 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on September 8, 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 34-36, 39-43, and 47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Pinchasik et al (US 5,449,373). Pinchasik anticipates the claim language where the first expansion struts as claimed are in the left-most section (102) of Pinchasik (see Figures 2A to 2C), the second expansion struts are in the middle section (102), and the third expansion struts as claimed are in the right most section (102). The first connecting strut column is made up of links (112) and the links are clearly closer to the top struts of the expansion pair on the left end and to the bottom of the pair on the right end thereof.

Claim 62 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Globerman (US 5,776,161). Globerman anticipates the claim language where the joints (69) of Globerman are the expansion columns as claimed and the segments (65) of Globerman are the connecting struts as claimed; see Figure 22 and column 7, line 49 to column 9, line 24.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 49 and 50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pinchasik et al (US 5,449,373) in view of Richter et al (US 6,156,052). Pinchasik meets the claim language as explained in the Section 102 rejection above but fails to disclose a strut with a proximal end connected to one strut and the distal end thereof connected to another strut as claimed. However, Richter teaches that is was known to use different strut columns with the same connector columns. Specifically, Richter discloses using a strut column with a strut having a proximal end connected to one strut and the distal end thereof connected to another strut; see Figures 2A and 2B and compare it to Figures 3, 4, and 14 (Note that Richter interchanges a strut column like that disclosed by Pinchasik with one that is like the one claimed.). Therefore, it is the Examiner's position that it would have been obvious to replace or interchange the sections (102) of Pinchasik with the strut column disclosed in Richter in Figures 3, 4, and 14 for the same reasons that Richter does the same.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 51-59 are allowed over the prior art of record.

Conclusion

Applicant should specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure, including the claims (MPEP 714.02 and 2163.06). Due to the procedure outlined in MPEP 2163.06 for interpreting claims, it is noted that other art may be applicable under 35 USC 102 or 35 USC 103(a) once the aforementioned issue(s) is/are addressed.
